BUSINESS ETHICS

Gifts

VCST accepts normal and appropriate gestures of hospitality and goodwill (both given to and received from third parties) as long as giving or receiving donations is not done with the intention to influence the party to whom they are given, to receive orders or a business advantage, or as an explicit or implicit exchange for favors or benefits. They must be given on behalf of the company, not in the name of an individual, and may not contain money or money related items (vouchers, gift certificates ...).

Conflict of Interest

Employees are expected to act in the best interest of their company. Private interests and personal considerations shall not affect any business decision. VCST as well as the supplier will avoid any activity or situation which may lead to a conflict of private interest of a VCST employee or supplier and the business interest of VCST. A supplier becoming aware of a conflict of interest situation will immediately notify VCST about this.

Improper Payments

VCST does not tolerate any form of corruption. No bribes, kickbacks, or similar payments are permitted, even when such payments are permitted under applicable local law. VCST employees, suppliers, and agents are strictly prohibited from accepting such payments under any circumstances.

Confidential Information

Protection of confidential information is key to the success of VCST and its suppliers. Suppliers must protect all VCST information, electronic data, and intellectual property with appropriate safeguards. Suppliers may receive VCST confidential information only as authorized by a confidentiality or nondisclosure agreement signed between VCST and the supplier, and suppliers must comply fully with their obligations under such agreements with respect to the disclosure and use of VCST's information. Suppliers may not use any trademarks, trade names, patents, copyrights, or other intellectual property or similar rights of VCST, except to the extent explicitly authorized by VCST in writing and in its sole and absolute discretion.

Supplier Management System

Suppliers should implement and maintain a management system that ensures they comply with applicable laws, regulations, and VCST policies (including, without limitation, this Code of Conduct) and aids the suppliers in identifying and reducing any operational risks related to this Code of Conduct. The system should also promote continuous improvement and compliance with changing laws and regulations. VCST strongly recommends that all suppliers maintain an environmental management system (EMS), such as ISO14001, to ensure environmental compliance.
